

Theme: Look through your window ...

Our home learning project this half term builds on the success of our Book in a Box task last half term. This time, I am inviting you to be creative and discover your inner artist as you notice and observe the world around you.

Take a look through your window and create four different images showing the same landscape. These will need to be brought into school on (or before) Monday 20th May 2024.

You have creative freedom with this project to follow your own style and preference. For example:

- Will you recreate the actual image you see from your window?
- Will you find a window in your dreams or google searches and recreate this scene?
- Will you create the same landscape at different times during the day?
- Will you create the same landscape at different times of the year?
- Will you create the same landscape using different sets of materials (e.g. paint, felt pens, collage, photo)?

Templates are provided with this project brief, but please feel free to be as creative as you like with your presentation!

IMPORTANT NOTICE: Prizes will be given to the three most impressive collections of window landscapes. There will be an anonymous class vote on Monday 20th May – please make sure your project is in school by this date!
